ATTENTION: Business Owners

Dear Friend,

The COVID-19 crisis is challenging every segment of society, but none more so than the small business community. Please know that True Access Capital is here to help. You’ve probably heard about a federal relief program and other state and local government programs aimed at helping small businesses survive and recover from the crisis. There are links to some of these programs immediately below.

We know that it can be difficult to understand and apply to these programs, especially if you’re working overtime just to keep a business afloat. True Access Capital is here for you. We offer FREE technical assistance to help you understand the details of these programs and to complete the paperwork to apply for business loans and other programs. Many of these programs have certain requirements, and nearly all have deadlines. There’s no better time than right now to begin working with True Access Capital to get your plan together.

To get started, please contact Delores Lee at dlee@trueaccesscapital.org to schedule an appointment. Together we will get through this.

Sincerely,
Vandell Hampton, Jr.
President & CEO
